Friends mourn death of Sen. Vadalabene

By Bob Slate and Mike Myers
Staff writers

Southern Illinois is mourning the loss of one of its most important government figures. Sam Vadalabene, 79, a Democrat state senator from Edwardsville, died at 1:30 a.m. Sunday of a heart attack in a Maryville nursing home. He had been suffering from diabetes and was undergoing kidney dialysis, which had kept him away from Springfield for the last year.

He had been in the home since December. His death prompted expressions of sorrow from across the state.

Gov. James Edgar said Vadalabene was best known for loyalty to his district and his ability to rise above partisan politics. "He was without peer in the General Assembly when it came to addressing the needs of his district," Edgar, a Republican, said.

Former Granite City Mayor Von Dee Cruse agreed with Edgar's assessment.

"One of the most important things is that Sam was able to get along with and work with Republicans," Cruse said.

"He could walk into the Governor's office and get a great hug. It made him unpopular with a lot of the (Democratic) legislators, but he was able to get a lot of things done because he knew how to get along and knew how to compromise," Cruse said.

Bob Wydra, director of the

Sam Vadalabene

Tri-City Regional Port District, said that Vadalabene was always willing to help with a project.

"He was always willing to help us. If you needed something done, he was the one to call. He always supported any projects we wanted done and was willing to push them through the legislature," Wydra said.

Most recently, Wydra said, he had worked with Vadalabene on proposed legislation to establish a low-interest capital loan fund for Illinois port districts.

"Senator Sam sponsored the legislation, which was eventually killed in the House.

"But he was there to testify on our behalf," Wydra said.

Cruse said that Vadalabene was readily accessible until his illness.

Party will appoint successor

Area voters will choose a new state senator in November. But Sen. Sam Vadalabene's death Sunday means that the Democratic Party will appoint someone to serve out the remainder of Vadalabene's current term.

Madison County Democratic Chairman Mac Warfield said that under current party rules, he and the county Democratic Executive Committee can appoint someone to fill Vadalabene's seat until after the November election.

Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles, the Democratic nominee for Vadalabene's seat in the November general election, would appear to be the logical choice. But Warfield said Monday it was still hard to imagine anyone replacing Vadalabene and "it is too early to make a decision on that."

During Vadalabene's quarter of a century of service, Warfield said, "his good works touched every resident of this county."

Robert Bischoff, director of Chapter I Reading for the Granite City School District, reads to fifth-grade students in Nancy Rainer's class at Frohardt School.

Special gift: a desire to read

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

More than a dozen special adults have dropped by Nancy Rainer's fifth grade class at Frohardt Elementary School since January. Each left something special — a desire to read.

Last fall, Rainer decided to set up a new Reading Emphasis program for her class and invited a number of adults to come read to her class.

Her idea was to have the visitor select a favorite book and read a chapter to the class. The book was then placed in the classroom library so that the pupils whose interest was sparked by the reading could read the rest of the book.

"By having the boys and girls follow the example of adults around them, I wanted to stimulate the boys and girls to read a variety of books for pleasure," Rainer said.

"The response has been tremendous. It has certainly been a worthwhile project and one I hope to repeat."

Readers for Rainer's class included Cynthia Hornell, head of the English Department at Granite City High School; Ken Spaulding, principal, Grigsby Junior High School; Pat Schuman, personnel director, Granite City School District; Carolyn Nemeth, Granite City school board; Nancy Marti, principal, Parkview Elementary School; Lee Reid, retired principal; Ed Schroeder, English teacher, Coolidge Junior High School; Ellen Voyles, principal, Niedringhaus Elementary School; Bob Bischoff, Chapter I director, Granite City School District; Jim Jeffries, principal, Coolidge Junior High School; and Greg McGee, branch library supervisor, Granite City Library District.

Venice cop charged with felony

A 23-year-old Venice police officer has been arrested for allegedly detaining a woman in a residence against her will last Wednesday.

The officer had arrested the woman for a traffic violation earlier that day, police records show. Roland D. Wilson Jr., a Venice police officer for the past two years, was arrested by Venice police and Illinois State Police agents Friday on a warrant charging him with unlawful restraint, a Class 4 felony.

Wilson was later released on a $15,000 recognizance bond. He is currently on administrative leave from the police department, pending any action by the Board of Police Commissioners.

Wilson, a resident of the 900 block of Fourth Street, allegedly refused to allow a woman to leave a residence in Venice in an April 27 incident, according to an information.

According to police records, Wilson had arrested the victim, a 23-year-old Madison resident, at 12:15 a.m. April 27, on a charge of driving while her license was suspended. The woman was released from custody at 1:35 a.m. on a notice to appear in court.

Later that day, a source close to the investigation said, the woman told police that Wilson had held her against her will at a home in Venice.

Capt. Wayne Watson of the Illinois State Police said that an investigation into the alleged incident was initiated at the request of Venice Police

Madison hit hard by property taxes

City, school tax rate hikes contribute to $1.30 increase

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

There's good tax news for property owners in Mitchell and Pontoon Beach who are served by Special Service Area 1, but for all other area property owners the property tax news ranges from bad to worse.

Because its initial bond issue has been retired, Special Service Area 1 for sanitary sewers levied no property tax this year.

However, the property tax rates of almost all other area taxing bodies have gone up, according to the 1993 rate tables released this week by Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles.

Property owners in the city of Madison will be the hardest hit with a total 1993 tax rate of $10.51 per $100 of assessed valuation, up from $9.21 per $100 of assessed valuation last year.

For the owner of a $30,000 house — assessed at $10,000 — located in Madison and Venice Township and the Madison School District the 1993 property tax would be $1,051 compared to $921 last year.

For the same home in Venice and the Venice School District, the 1993 property tax based on a total rate of $10.54 would be $1,054 compared to $1,010 last year. The same house in Venice and the Madison School District would pay, based on a $11.52 total tax rate, $1,152 compared to $1,060 last year.

In Granite City, the total 1993 property tax for the same house would be $834 compared to $815 last year.

The same house in Pontoon Beach and Nameoki Township, Granite City School District, Long Lake Fire Protection District, Granite City Library District and Special Service Area 1 would have a 1993 property tax of $774 compared to $627 last year. In Mitchell the same house, located in Chouteau Township and Granite City School District, Mitchell Fire Protection District, Granite City Library District and Special Service Area 1, would have a 1993 property tax of $727 compared to $783 last year.

The 1993 property tax rate for Madison County is 37 cents per $100 compared to 85 cents per $100 last year.

The 1993 property tax rates per $100 of assessed valuation of other area taxing bodies, with last year's tax rates in parentheses, are:

Belleville Area College — $2,257 (2,126)
Metro East Sanitary District — $746 (687)
Granite City School District — $4,163 (4,140)
Madison School District — $5,047 (4,573)
Venice School District — $4,062 (4,061)
City of Granite City — $1,361 (1,269)
City of Madison — $2,737 (2,229)

Car wash to benefit task force

The Pontoon Beach Neighborhood Task Force will hold a fund-raising car wash from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, May 7, at the Shell station on the corner of Highway 111 and Pontoon Road.

The cost is $4 for cars, vans or trucks. All funds will go to help provide activities for children in the area — activities youngsters can enjoy without drugs and alcohol.

For more information, persons may call Linda at 931-1607.

Deadline approaches for WOA luncheon

An exceptional group of 10 women will be honored at the 1993 Women of Achievement at a luncheon later this month.

These women, who have made significant contributions to the St. Louis metropolitan community, join 381 other Women of Achievement who have been honored since the program was started in 1955.

The awards will be presented at a noon luncheon May 18 at the Adam's Mark Hotel at Fourth and Chestnut streets. The luncheon will be in the Saint Louis Ballroom.

Reservations for luncheon tickets, which are $18 per person, may be ordered by sending a check to Women of Achievement, Suburban Journals, P.O. Box 411274, St. Louis, 63141. The deadline for reservations is May 11.

Seating will be at tables for 10. For those wishing to sit together, reservations and payment for the group must be made at the same time. Those attending the luncheon on behalf of a particular honoree should put the name

Police beat

The following are among incidents reported recently at area police departments.

Pot possession

Donald G. Oehlecker Jr., 17, of the 2100 block of Bern Avenue, was arrested at Granite City High School at 1:53 p.m. April 28 for unlawful possession of cannabis. Oehlecker was found to have three bags, allegedly containing marijuana, in his pocket, according to a police report.

One of the bags contained a note saying "$40 each," the report states.

Louis P. Arnold, 17, of the 2300 block of Delmar Avenue, was arrested at Granite City High School at 12:22 p.m. April 27 for unlawful possession of cannabis. Arnold had a small butt of a hand-rolled cigarette, alleged to contain cannabis, inside a folding hairbrush in his pocket, according to a police report.

Warrant arrests

Samuel A. Brown, 31, of the Viola Jones Homes in Venice, was arrested at 11:15 p.m. April 25 on a felony warrant charging him with unlawful possession of a controlled substance with the intent to deliver.

Bond on the warrant is $25,000. Venice police allege Brown tried to sell less than one gram of a substance represented as containing cocaine to an off-duty police officer in a March 19 incident.

Brown also possessed a pipe which tested positive for traces of cocaine, according to police.

Julius A. Warren, 17, of the Thomas Terry Apartments on Brooklyn, was arrested at 12:37 p.m. April 23 and was charged with burglary in a felony warrant issued April 25.

Bond on the warrant is $40,000. Warren and three juvenile boys, ages 13, 13 and 14 years, allegedly stole boxes containing Sega video game cartridges and portable notebooks from a tractor trailer parked at the Venice railroad yard, 211 Main Street.

The juveniles were referred to the Madison County detention facility, police said.

Bryan K. Towery, 30, of the 2900 block of Pershing Boulevard, was arrested at 1:46 a.m. April 28 on a St. Louis County felony warrant charging him with stealing.

He was being held without bond.

Miscellaneous

Venice police say a fire last week at Marie's Hideaway, 704 Main St., was intentionally set. The state fire marshal is investigating the fire, which started at 1:45 p.m. April 26.

Firefighters from Venice and Madison extinguished the blaze by 4:30 p.m. The business had been closed since January and was in the process of being remodeled.

Police said a flammable liquid was used to ignite the fire on the southeast corner of the building. The structure was insured.

Toward Education, a Dave McLealand are listed in a police report as the owners of the property.

Motorcyclists near victory — again — on helmet law

Area motorcycle rider groups are apparently headed for another victory in their battle to thwart mandatory helmet laws.

The Illinois secretary of transportation last week said at a news conference that passage of a state helmet law "doesn't look very likely to me" despite his department's past support.

Secretary Kirk Brown said he is "still hopeful" federal sanctions against states without helmet laws would be changed in Congress instead.

A mandatory helmet bill introduced in the Illinois House this spring did not even get out of committee, although in previous years similar measures have been approved by at least one legislative chamber.

Motorcycle rider groups, particularly A Brotherhood Aimed Toward Education, have mounted a strong lobbying effort against mandatory helmet laws and support in the Legislature has been steadily dropping in recent years.

One motorcycle shop owner in Madison County, who did not want to be identified by name, said he believed an overwhelming number of riders were against mandatory helmet laws and favored "freedom of choice."

"It's no different than if you mandate that everybody brush their teeth every day," he said.

Illinois Department of Transportation spokeswoman Martha Schiebel said the department is projecting that about $6 million in federal highway funds will have to be shifted from repair and construction to safety programs.

Federal law requires that states without mandatory helmet laws shift a percentage of federal highway funds from construction to safety programs.

That shift would more than double the $4.9 million Illinois spends in federal funds for safety and education efforts.

Those programs include public service campaigns and police crackdowns to increase the use of seat belts and child safety restraints. The money also goes for training sessions for emergency medical technicians and safety education programs in schools, Schiebel said.

She said the department may try to use the additional money for one-time projects, such as an expanded computer system needed to keep more detailed records on traffic accidents.

Ironically, the additional safety program funds won't be used for motorcycle safety efforts. The department runs that program with state funds taken from a portion of motorcycle registration fees, Schiebel said.

She added that IDOT's motorcycle safety program has won two national awards.

ABATE and other anti-mandatory helmet groups have contended that the emphasis should be on better educating drivers to be alert for motorcycle

Even though motorcycle helmet legislation appears to be dead in Illinois, a bill mandating helmet use by bicyclists under 16 has passed committee and is pending before the full House.

Crime spree is cited by legislator

By Martin Richter
Staff writer

A recent crime spree in Collinsville by a man who had been released from prison only six days earlier is a perfect example of the need for legislation to curb violent, habitual criminals in Illinois, State Rep. Jay Hoffman said Thursday.

Hoffman, D-Collinsville, said he discussed in a press conference in Springfield the alleged crime spree in Collinsville by 41-year-old Emmet Leatherwood of East St. Louis.

The press conference was to announce support by the Democratic Caucus of Hoffman's "Criminals Off Public Streets" (COPS) crime package, he said.

Leatherwood was charged with home invasion and armed robbery after he was allegedly involved in incidents at three different Collinsville homes April 12.

Hoffman, a former assistant state's attorney and director of probation for St. Clair County, said there are currently about 24,000 convicts out on early release in Illinois, and only 64 officers to watch them.

"That's been my point from the very beginning, is we have a revolving door system ... where nobody is watching anybody," he said. "That's crazy. It's ludicrous."

Humane Society breaks ground for shelter

In this dog-eat-dog world, some of man's best friends are getting a second chance to howl at the moon.

Madison County Humane Society supporters broke ground Thursday for a new $300,000 animal shelter just outside Edwardsville. The shelter, which is expected to take three to four months to build, will enable the Humane Society to move out of leased space in the Madison County Animal Control pound and put 10 times as many animals up for adoption, society vice president Ledy VanKavage said. Those animals are now being destroyed.

"It's been a long time coming and we're very excited about this," VanKavage said.

In its current quarters, the Humane Society has room for three dogs and nine cats.

"A lot of times the (animal control officers) will bring in a dog and ask us if we want to put it up for adoption, and we say yes but don't have the space," VanKavage said. "If we don't take (the animal), it goes straight in for passing and of course that's the last thing we want to see happen."

The county destroyed 2,450 dogs and puppies last year and 1,639 cats and kittens.

The new shelter will have room for 60 cats, 30 dogs and an isolation pen for sick animals.

"It's a godsend. That's something we have really needed for a long time," VanKavage said of the isolation pen.

The Humane Society has raised about $300,000 toward the building's cost, but VanKavage said she is hoping volunteer help from some contractors and suppliers will help reduce the $300,000 cost estimate.

The shelter will be next to the county pound on Illinois Route 143, six miles east of Edwardsville.

Cable talks' costs less than expected

The price tag for joint cable television negotiations may be about half of that originally expected, a Madison County official said.

Three consulting firms offering to help negotiate a single set of countywide cable TV rates and service standards have submitted proposals to a group of county and municipal officials.

"We're in the process right now of asking each of the firms to provide us with more specific information, but at this point it looks like it's going to cost us about half of what we first thought," said County Board member Alan Dunstan.

Dunstan is chairman of the Legislative Committee and one of the leading proponents of unified cable negotiations.

Four months ago, when Dunstan first proposed the cable TV consortium, Dunstan and others said they expected the entire process to cost about $70,000 in consulting fees.

Preliminary analyses of the consultants' proposals, however, indicate the price tag may be closer to $35,000, Dunstan said Tuesday.

The fees would be split among the participating municipalities based on the number of cable customers in each.

On Tuesday, Dunstan predicted the lower price tag will attract more municipalities to join the consortium.

Some municipal leaders have apparently been hesitant to commit to the group because of cost fears.

"Once we get going with this,

I think it'll mushroom, Dunstan said.

"It'll pick up. The more cities (that) get involved, the more it's going to help everyone else, because the city-by-city cost will drop."

The communities that have been working with Dunstan on the consortium include Collinsville, Troy, Alton, Granite City, Edwardsville, Highland, Hamlet, and Madison.

Dunstan said it will be several weeks before a consultant is chosen to represent the consortium, in talks with the six cable operators doing business in Madison County.

Several franchise agreements in the southern part of the county have recently been extended for a year or two to give county and city leaders time to organize the consortium and prepare for full-fledged negotiations.

Consortium supporters have argued that unified negotiations will enable customers to reap lower rates and uniform service, rather than the existing patchwork of agreements that vary in what customers are charged and the services they get.

In addition, the consortium would have the expertise and the time to enforce all provisions of the franchise agreement, something many small communities have neither the time nor money to do, supporters said.

Opponents in the cable TV industry, however, have said developing the consortium is a benefit primarily to lawyers and consultants.

Postal job applications open

The Gateway District of the United States Postal Service has announced that on May 2 through May 6, applications will be accepted for the postal positions of city carrier, clerk, distribution clerk, machine operator, flat sorting machine operator, mail handler, mail processor and mark-up clerk.

The exam results will be used to fill future vacancies at post offices in the Zip Code areas 620, 622, 623, 624, 626, 628, 630, 632, 634, 635, 650, 651, 652 and 653.

Applications may be obtained at any post office in the above zip code areas, including Granite City, Madison and Venice.

Applications for the Zip Code 651 area may be obtained at any of the Missouri Division of Employment Security offices located in the metropolitan St. Louis area, and further details can be found in the announcement posted in all offices within the Gateway District.

The closing date to accept applications for the examinations is Friday, May 6.

More helpful hints for gardens in Small Spaces

from the experts at

NURSERY & CRAFTS

Where Beautiful Things Begin

Last month we offered a few tips on creating gardens in small spaces. Today we're going to share a few more interesting ideas on ways to enhance gardens in small spaces.

A great way to make a small garden seem larger is to create different levels. They can be "attached" together with steps, ramps or anything else you can think of. Some people place mirrors in strategic locations. Just like a room inside, this can create the illusion of a larger space.

Add urns and planters. Terra-cotta types blend in beautifully, especially when they're backed by foliage. Remember, however, they must be brought inside during the cold months.

Furniture is a good accent for any garden, small or large. Placement of the furniture is important. Most people wouldn't feel "at home" seated in a chair out in the middle of a garden. Instead, place it near the edge. And, since most folks like to engage in a chat, seats should be large enough to accommodate at least two people. If you're using portable outdoor furniture, try to place it in a spot that offers the best view of the garden.

A glare from a nearby street light, business or other source can destroy the peaceful tranquility of a garden at night. It's possible to overcome this by installing your own lighting for the garden. Use white light and always direct the beam upwards to the foliage and away from the house and paths. It's best to do this before the garden is completed, since it involves digging trenches and burying cable. If you don't want to disrupt the garden, consider spied lighting, which is easier to install and can be moved. Installation of permanent lighting should be left to a professional and must comply with all local codes.

Is there a big ugly downspout ruining the appearance of your garden? No problem! Since the pipe is necessary, it's best to conceal it rather than attempt to move it.

Cover the pipe with ivy and it'll blend in with, rather than detract from the garden. Be careful, though. Rain water must flow freely down the pipe and away from the house, so make sure you don't block its bottom opening.

If you wish to construct a wall of some type as a garden boundary, there are a few things to take into consideration first. Will the wall be used to hide an offending view? Will it be an enhancement to the garden? Perhaps both. Either way, you should avoid building the wall too high, which creates a claustrophobic effect in a small garden. Sometimes an offending view can be very well hidden by a wall only a few feet high. Perhaps a row of shrubs or trees would suffice instead of a wooden or other type of wall.

Small ponds add depth to any garden. If you'll pardon the pun. They don't have to be huge, either. But you must remember one thing when considering a pond. They require maintenance. If they're neglected, dirty, stagnant water will result. It looks unpleasant, doesn't smell much better, and becomes a haven for mosquitoes. Not exactly an enticing garden. But a well-maintained pond is an attractive garden addition indeed.

These are just a few possibilities. Your imagination and available space are the only limits. Getting the most out of a small space is challenging, but if it's done right, the results can be beautiful!

NEWS

McPike pledges support for any number of casinos

SPRINGFIELD — Rep. Jim McPike says he would be willing to support as many as 100 more riverboat casinos if that's what House Republican leaders want in exchange for betting boats in Chicago.

The Alton Democrat is House majority leader and chief negotiator for the House Democratic leadership on expansion of riverboat gambling.

In a Statehouse news conference Wednesday, McPike noted that Gov. Jim Edgar and Chicago Mayor Richard Daley reached agreement weeks ago to let Chicago have five floating casinos but said House Republicans have not submitted any plan of their own.

"I have asked various parties when Illinois House Republicans plan to submit a plan concerning areas affecting their constituents. To date, no proposals have been put forth," McPike said. McPike added that he would consider any number of additional boats advocated by House Republican Leader Lee Daniels.

"If he wants 10 more boats or 100 more boats I'm for whatever Lee wants," McPike said. Daniels could not be reached for comment Wednesday.

Besides boats for Chicago, McPike also said he is personally advocating a gaming boat for Rockford in memory of Rep. Zeke Giorgi. D-Rockford, a House assistant majority leader who died last year.

Giorgi asked him to include Rockford in any expansion of riverboat gambling, McPike.

McPike again flatly ruled out any negotiations on riverboat gambling linked to pro-business "reforms" demanded by Senate Republican Leader James "Pete" Philip.

Philip has been insisting that workers' compensation reforms and limits on lawsuits against businesses must be passed in exchange for giving Chicago riverboat casinos.

If Philip does not change his position, there will be no more riverboats authorized, McPike threatened Wednesday.

Meanwhile, Rep. Lou Lung, D-Skokie, announced he will hold a series of hearings to present proposed riverboat gambling ventures.

Donations urged to counter rally

By Scott Wuerz
Staff writer

Two elected officials are urging Madison County residents to make the most of a "sour situation."

The Knights of the Ku Klux Klan have scheduled a rally May 6 on the steps of the Edwardsville courthouse, but Congressmen Richard Durbin and Jay Hoffman said Madison County residents should put some money where their mouths would otherwise be.

Project Lemonade, and its founders Bill and Linda Seltzer of Springfield, suggested that those who oppose the Klan make pledges to organizations that promote equality instead of physically confronting the KKK. Bill Seltzer said Project Lemonade solicits pledges from groups and individuals opposed to the Klan in much the same way walk-a-thons work. But instead of collecting for each mile pledged, Project Lemonade collects donations for each minute the Klan members rally.

Founded in January, the group has already raised over $10,000 in donations from three Klan rallies held during Martin Luther King Day weekend in January.

"The first time (the Klan held rallies in Illinois) this year we raised over $15 for each minute they rallied," Seltzer said.

He said those who want to contribute can make their checks out to the organizations Project Lemonade supports, and the group makes no profit.

Donations can be made to the NAACP, the Anti-Defamation League and The Southern Poverty Law Center in Montgomery, Ala., all of which have long histories of battling the Klan.

The money is used to purchase educational materials, among other things, Seltzer said.

Durbin said that, in addition to the positive things the money will buy, Project Lemonade allows those who oppose the Klan to feel as if they are doing their share to promote equality — without risking physical confrontation with the Klan.

"I hope anyone who is opposed to what the Klan is doing (May 6) will contribute to this program instead of going to downtown Edwardsville to give them the attention they so desperately desire."

"They can have their right to free speech — knowing people like myself will be pledging money to support peace and brotherhood the whole while."

Besides the Edwardsville Rally, the group has rallies scheduled in Decatur on May 7.

Seltzer said Madison County residents interested in contributing time or money to Project Lemonade can do so by contacting Edwardsville attorney Larry Talana at 692-4422.

SAM

"If you called him and he wasn't there, he'd make it a point to return your call," Cruise said.

Madison Mayor John Bellico, a former Madison County Democratic chairman, said Vadalabene was a man without enemies.

"I think the impact he made in his district will never be surpassed," Bellico said. "He was a people's man. There wasn't anything within reason that he wouldn't do for you. He will be missed by everybody on both sides of the aisle."

Shang Gresham, president of the Metro East Sanitary District and Vadalabene's unofficial chauffeur in recent years, was with Vadalabene shortly before his death.

"In the last week or so it had gotten depressing. He had been alert until then — because he was getting so he didn't recognize people," Gresham said. "Still he was a great guy right up to the end. He sure put up a hell of a fight, didn't he? I lost a good friend and this area is really going to miss him."

Edwardsville Alderman Winston Brown, who also has served as president and vice president of the Edwardsville chapter of the NAACP for more than 25 years, said Vadalabene was also a champion of equality.

"Sam Vadalabene was a close friend of mine and I have a very high opinion of him," Brown said. "Prior to his illness, he only missed one or two NAACP meetings in the last 25 years, and you have to respect that sort of commitment."

Vadalabene, who was known by the nickname "Senator Sam," began his political career as Edwardsville Township Auditor in 1965, before winning a spot in the Illinois House in 1967.

He became a state senator in 1971, representing the 56th District, a position Vadalabene held until the time of his death.

Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles, Democratic nominee for Vadalabene's Senate seat, was to replace the senator when he retired this fall.

"He was happiest in the Legislature, because that is where he wanted to be," Bowles said. "He was truly dedicated to the interests of this area."

Among Vadalabene's greatest accomplishments were the many construction projects he brought to the Madison County area.

In addition to providing a tug boat for the local harbor, Vadalabene was responsible for many improvements on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and bringing funding to the county to improve roads, Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer said.

"He was one terrific guy, and we should all be very proud of the work he did," Hagnauer said.

Chief James Bennett. The investigation is continuing, Watson said.

Sources close to the investigation said that additional information may be presented to a grand jury and that additional charges may be forthcoming in relation to the alleged incident.

Bennett declined to reveal any details of the alleged incident except to say that Wilson was not on duty at the time it allegedly occurred.

Bennett said he has referred the matter to the Board of Police Commissioners and that Wilson has been placed on administrative leave with pay.

Juvenile home renovation to be completed by December

Officials and youths at the Madison County Juvenile Detention Home are in for a Christmas gift of new toilets, security cameras and a roof that works.

Work on $1.3 million in renovations and repairs to the 25-year-old facility is expected to be completed by mid-December now that the County Board has hired an Edwardsville contractor to handle the project.

The board last month awarded the contract to Thiems Construction Co., ending more than three years of delays and false starts.

Construction costs will total an estimated $1.3 million but architectural fees and other incidental costs will add another $300,000 in expenses.

The Illinois Attorney General's Office threatened to sue Madison County in 1991 because of overcrowding, inadequate toilets and other violations of state building codes at the home.

County Buildings and Lands Director Marly Siglock said Wednesday that Thiems would likely complete the project by mid-December.

The contract calls for adding toilets, installing ceiling sprinklers and adding space for 11 new cells; increasing the capacity from 21 to 32.

A building addition is also planned that would house a group home program administered by Community Counseling Services of Northern Madison County. The agency will pay annual rent of $40,000 to $45,000.

The addition could be transformed into cells if overcrowding becomes a problem in the future or if Community Counseling moves, officials said.

Thiems was the low bidder among six vying for the job.

The facility has been a drain on county resources since shortly after it opened in 1969. Officials have allocated hundreds of thousands of dollars for repairs, some major, to the building's roof, floors, basement, plumbing and other areas.

Extra protection helps minimize battle with bugs

If there is one lesson taught during the spring turkey hunting season, it is that the observant person in the spring woods can see plenty—whether he or she is hunting or not.

We've talked before about observing the many forms of wildlife, birds, wild flowers and trees in the spring woods. There's also the benefit of stumbling into a patch of mushrooms. That extra camouflage face mask does have a use.

However, there is a part of the spring woods no one likes. It is the battle with the creepy, crawly things. These critters also are known as ticks, chiggers, mosquitoes and so forth.

Obviously, wood ticks and deer ticks are the most dreaded of ticks, especially the Lone Star tick (the big one with the white and dark dots on its back).

WHILE TICKS ARE unpleasant, it undoubtedly is the chigger which causes the most discomfort. Once one of those lovelies burrows under your hide, you get a welt that itches and then gets sore—usually because you've scratched it raw.

Of course, mosquitoes and gnats, even flies and horseflies, also seem to find and torment you constantly.

All of this makes having a good time hunting, observing, hiking, taking photographs or whatever it is you enjoy somewhat difficult. It is a chore to focus a camera while you're swatting a fly or to sit perfectly still for an approaching turkey as you feel a tick crawling up the back of your leg.

So we must do one of two things: stay out of the woods or fight the creepy, crawly before they can get started.

Most folks prefer the latter approach. And it isn't all that much trouble in these modern times. We could go into long discussions about the various ingredients and how they work. But it is easier to talk simply about the things that work.

FIRST, WHILE DRESSED in absolutely nothing, apply your first layer of protection. A good choice is Avon's Skin So Soft, applied at 100 percent strength. Some say this doesn't work, but it does for many. Simply dump it out of the bottle onto your hands and rub it on your body. You'll feel oily slick, but the bugs won't like you.

On clothing, spray Coulton's Duran Tick Repellent. This stuff is not to be sprayed on the skin, but is sprayed upon the clothing and allowed to dry. It's supposed to kill ticks. I've never seen that, but most of the ticks stay off it and therefore off you.

Spray Cutter Insect Repellent on a cap or hat to keep all manner of critters off your head and out of your hair. Usually, a good dose of Cutter's on your headwear also will hold the mosquitoes at arm's length.

Some new stuff came in the mail recently. It hasn't been personally tried yet, but it is from 3M so it probably is good stuff. Called Ultrathon, the new 3M product is a cream base which makes it easy to apply to the skin. It is supposed to have time release materials in it which make it continue to repel critters for up to 12 hours.

KEEP IN MIND that when you are active in any weather, but especially in warm weather, you perspire. That means you wash some of the repellent off, leaving vulnerable areas for the critters to attack.

It's smart to have a time release product—if it works. It also is smart to carry some repellent with you at all times. This allows you to strengthen the dose you put on in the morning.

By doing these things, you can lean back and relax. That allows you to truly enjoy the constant surprises the outdoor world brings your way—whether it is a young raccoon scampering up a tree just a few feet away, watching a squirrel forage for food or watching a brilliantly-hued Scarlet Tanager flit among the limbs of a high oak.

mally explosive team that was held without a goal in two straight games last week. "We're more relaxed and we're making good passes," Baker said. "We're moving off the ball."

The Lady Warriors put the Pioneers away early in the second half when Evans connected at 49:27. Kami Kessel began the play by sending the ball downfield from 40 yards out on a restart. Roxie Simpson fed Evans, who converted to make it 3-0.

Kessel recorded an assist on Granite City's next goal, a 15-yarder by Splaingard that went through Phillips' hands for a 4-0 lead at 54:47. The Lady Warriors got their final goal at 61:54, when Jill Haddix fired a corner kick to the front of the net and Dellbringge did the rest with a

The Lady Warriors improved to 11-2-1 with the victory, their second straight. They will meet Hazelwood Central for the St. Dominic/Howell North Shootout title 6 p.m. Thursday at Memorial Field in a game that was previously scheduled as a regular-season contest.

The St. Dominic title game was originally intended to be played at Howell North High School on Saturday, but rain forced tournament officials to reschedule. The timing could not have been better for the Lady Warriors, who would have been shorthanded because of the school prom Saturday night.

Thursday's game will now count as the tournament title. Howell North, the defending tournament champion, will meet Notre-Dame in the third-place game at 9 a.m. Saturday at Howell North.

The Granite City Park District needs umpires for its youth baseball and softball games this summer at Wilson Park. Anyone interested should attend a meeting May 4 at the Lincoln Place Community Center.

Young adult boys and girls are needed, as well as adults. Umpires must be 16 years of age this year.

The meeting is free. Those who attend will be taught the rules and mechanics of becoming a Park District umpire. A test will be given and shirts will

The Blacksheep softball team of the Granite City Steel Softball Association will sponsor a men's and women's tournament May 6-8.

The tournament will be Class D, with one home run allowed. Payouts based on 16 teams would be $600, $450, $300 and $150. For more information, call Paul Clinard at 876-8149, Mike Lampton at 452-0733 or Ken Wilson at 451-1986.

Park District sponsoring three Busch trips

The Granite City Park District will sponsor three trips to Busch Stadium for senior citizens to attend St. Louis Cardinals baseball games this year.

Tickets for the first game, May 23, are on sale in the Wilson Park office. The cost is $7 for the ticket and $3 for bus transportation to and from the game. The bus leaves at an hour and a half before game time from the Wilson Park tee-rink. Residents of the Park District will have first priority, but tickets will be sold to non-residents after the first week they go on sale.

The first game is May 23 between the Cardinals and the Philadelphia Phillies. The bus will leave at 5:30 p.m. for the 7:05 p.m. game. The second game is July 27 against the New York Mets, scheduled to begin at 2:35 p.m. The third game is Aug. 25 against the Cincinnati Reds.

For more information, call the Wilson Park office at 577-3859.

Wozniak

Another attraction was the high academic standards at Bellarmine, a private school. Wozniak is an honor student whose work ethic will pay off both on and away from the playing field.

Baker recommended Wozniak to Fernandez last fall.

"Chad's a blue-chip student-athlete," Baker said. "He's a heck of a student and it's paid off for him."

"HE HAS EXACTLY what it takes to fit in at Bellarmine," Fernandez said. "He's an intelligent player and the standards to play here are high."

Wozniak hopes to enhance his knowledge of the game by playing for Fernandez, who inherited a major task two years ago when he took over at Bellarmine. The Knights went 9-10 in 1992 and finished 4-12-2 last season.

Fernandez started eight freshmen last fall, a reflection of the young program he is building.

"We were a very young team and I expect we'll be the same way next season," Fernandez said. "Chad is someone who is not going to sit on the bench. I count on him being a player from the beginning."

Fernandez has found a second home in Louisville since playing professionally in 1986 for the American Indoor Soccer League. Fernandez graduated from SLU in 1988.

Fernandez went straight from a playing career into coaching. In 1987, he was hired as a soccer coach at Louisville's Ballard High School. Ballard won three Kentucky state titles over the next four years.

HE MOVED ON to St. Xavier High in Louisville, where he coached for one season. Soon after, officials at Bellarmine lured him away to take over the Knights' program.

"It came at the right time," said Fernandez, who also coached a Louisville under-19 club team to a second-place finish nationally in 1992. "It's becoming a soccer hotbed."

"It's going well. We're definitely in a rebuilding stage. You definitely have to get better teams on the schedule and better players to get stronger."

Bellarmine competes in the seven-team Great Lakes Valley Conference, which includes Louisville, University of Kentucky, Western Kentucky, Northern Kentucky and St. Joseph's. Next season, Bellarmine will make a visit to Missouri-St. Louis.

One of the areas Fernandez is targeting for recruits is St. Louis. Wozniak might be joined next season at Bellarmine by a player from Vianney, Steve Ortwein.

WOZNIAK HOPES to work his way into the Knights' lineup as a freshman, which appears to be a realistic goal. He also looks forward to playing for someone who learned under the same high-school coach.

Wozniak and Fernandez have something else in common: their families live on the same street, Princeton Drive.

"I'm looking forward to playing for Coach Fernandez," Wozniak said. "Hopefully, I'll be able to fill a spot. I really get comfortable with sweeper, but I like to play just about every position."

out. Dickerson, who picked up the win, went four strong innings, scattering three hits and striking out four. Winfield yielded a two-out single in the fifth before Ridenour closed things out for the save.

But Ridenour had some anxious moments in the sixth. An error, an intentional walk to Jesse Bugger and a walk to Tony Tate loaded the bases with two outs. But Brad Evans hit into a fielder's choice to end the threat. "That was probably our best chance to score and we didn't do it," Tigers coach Tom Pile said. "This game was a good tuneup for the regional and the sectional. The pitching was excellent on both sides, and when that happens, you're only going to get four or five hits a game."

"That's why you must do the little things to produce runs. We didn't execute very well today, and a lot of the credit goes to them. They threw out two of our baserunners and their pitchers did a great job keeping our people close to the bag. They just wiped out our running game."

Bryan Van Hook was the hard-luck loser. The senior righthander, who lost his first game of the season in four decisions, went the distance, scattering five hits and fanning 10. His only mistake was Neme's homer. "(Neme) just got the head of the bat on the ball and it carried out of here," Pile said. "I didn't think he hit the ball that well, but it left the yard. That's all that counts. Granite City played a fine game and so did we."

"This game had a playoff atmosphere and I'm sure we'll see each other again before the year's over. But Granite City is a sound fundamental team. That's why they're one of the better teams on this side of the river this year."

Pitcher Jeff Ridenour finished off Edwardsville with a save in Monday's 1-0 win.

Church Women to hold May Fellowship Day

Women throughout the Granite City area will gather at Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road, on Friday, May 6, in celebration of May Fellowship Day, sponsored by Church Women United of this area.

Focusing on the theme "Go, See and Act in Community," May Fellowship Day invites participants to explore anew the communities to which they belong.

The service, written by the Rev. Angelique Walker Smith, an African-American clergy woman from Indianapolis, will highlight key Biblical passages and challenge participants to redefine community in ways that foster understanding and outreach.

A luncheon to be held prior to the service will provide further opportunity for fellowship and community building. The luncheon is by reservation.

Special guests will be Lt. Tim Miller and Lt. Barbara Miller, representing the Salvation Army; Donna Schabily, Women, Infants and Children's Program; Francine Lafferty, adult literacy coordinator for Belleville Area College; Delores Gaines and Denise Wright, Protestant Welfare Association; Carol Chiappa and Donna

Wilson, Phoenix Crisis Center; and Almada Haynes, who is involved in prison ministry.

Also participating will be Myra Parrish, the Rev. Bennie Yount, Helen Stumpe, Betty Ebrecht, Helene Bischoff, Louise Anderson, Annabelle Patton, Lena Seitzer, Joyce Toussaint, Muriel Kratz, Carol Landis, Burdine Holtzcher, Millie Clements, Dolores Kieffer, Eva Clemens, Doris Edwards, Lucille Caban, Dorothy Kinney, Helen Todoroff, Mildred Jungels and Ruth Leik.

Since its inception in 1933, May Fellowship Day has emphasized unity while focusing on key issues within the local community.

Offerings received from May Fellowship Day participants help support the work of Church Women United in this area.

Additional information on the 1994 May Fellowship Day celebration may be obtained from Joyce Bennington, chairperson, at 876-2224; or Church Women United President Helen Stumpe, at 831-2098.

Luncheon tickets are available through local church representatives or the above chairperson and president.

3 to be part of European tour

On June 25, 115 honor student musicians will gather at Eastern Illinois University in Charleston for three days of rehearsal and a performance prior to departing to seven European countries for a 16-day tour.

Ben Asbeck, Scott Schaus, and Eric Vallo, all of Granite City, have been selected for this honor. All three are members of the Granite City High School music program, directed by Ray Rickert.

Ben Asbeck is the son of Ron and Donna Asbeck. Scott Schaus is the son of Dave and Katie Schaus. Eric Vallo is the son of Dan and Barb Vallo.

Students were nominated for the 1994 Illinois Ambassadors of Music Tour based upon their level of musicianship, leadership and character, and were selected for participation by invitation from the office of the Governor Edgar.

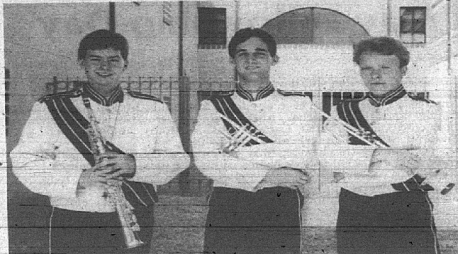

Erice Moss, director of Bands at Eastern Illinois University, will serve as music director for the tour. Moss will conduct the Honor Band, and Mark Beatty, of Sterling High School, Sterling, Ill., will conduct the Honor Choir.

Prior to their departure for Europe in June 25, student participants will gather on the campus of Eastern Illinois University for an intensive three-day schedule of rehearsals and orientation sessions. On Monday evening, June 27, at 7:30 p.m., a pre-tour concert will be held in Eastern's Doudna Fine Arts Center auditorium in Charleston. There will be no admission charge for this performance.

The Illinois Ambassadors of Music honor band and chorus will share their music with European audiences in seven different countries, and in a variety of performance settings. The tour will include stops in England, France, Switzerland, Liechtenstein, Austria, Italy and Germany.

This select group of students will be exposed to the culture and life of many European settings. The Illinois Ambassadors of Music is a bi-annual tour designed for performing, cultural enrichment, and education abroad for high school honor student musicians.

Eight and Forty holds Spring Pouvoir

The Eight and Forty of Illinois held its Spring Pouvoir (Board Meeting) at the Ramada Inn in Alton on April 16 and 17.

The Madison County Salon 53 was the hostess group.

A social time was held on Friday, April 15, at the Ramada and many of its members visited the Alton Belle.

The business meeting was conducted by the LeChapeau Departmental Mary Silver of Urbana, Illinois. Reports were made by all officers and chairmen on the activities to this date.

Speaker for the Children and Youth program was Khari Burel of the East St. Louis area who spoke on his attendance at the Camp Superkids which is for asthmatic children. This camp is sponsored by the American Lung Association. There Service Field Director, Karen Lanter, thanked the Eight and Forty for the many campships donated by its members.

Jackie Bochot of Franklin Park, Illinois, who is the departmental C and Y Chairman, announced we have money for 51 campships this year. Each campship is for $240.

Judy Shippee of Lena, Ill., was presented with two plaques from the American Legion Child Welfare Foundation for our contributions in 1993. These were given by Mary Silver, Chaplain.

Nadusib County received an award for highest contributions to the Nurses Scholarship program in Area V. Total contributions for the stat was $3,523.53.

A banquet was held on Saturday evening with the room decorated in red and white with owl table decorations. The theme for this year is "Enchanted Forest."

Special guest was Deb Doerr, First Vice President of the Department of Illinois, American Legion Auxiliary. Doerr is from Jacksonville, Ill.

A musical program with a skit was presented by the Madison County Salon 53 partners. Featured was a skit "Wise Old Owl."

Those participating and planning the Pouvoir from 53 were: Dorothy Hinson, Norma Hillmer, Elsie Vierge, Wanda Taylor, Adaline Drury, Marie Bivens, Cheri Bryan, Marjorie Rosen-thal, Irene Schneck, Judy Zimmerman, Shirley Landolt, Edith Ruehrup, Lucille Korsemyer, Georgia Eppard, Ramona Haislar, Dorothy Sooy, Frances Eibeck, and Geraldine Tjaden.

Judy Zimmermann of New Douglas was endorsed for the office of LeDemi Chapeau Deuxieme (Second Vice President) for the state. Election will be held at the LeMarche in August in Champaign, Ill. Judy is now service as the L'Archiviste (Historian).

FAMILY

Holy Family School PSA meets

Holy Family School's February Parish School Association meeting opened with a prayer by sixth-grade teacher, Cathy Webb.

Sister Mary Angeline gave the principal's report detailing ongoing and upcoming events of the school. The recent Science Fair held by the school for sixth, seventh and eighth grade students resulted in several winners. Those students receiving first place awards and chosen to present their science fair entries at the Regional contest at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville on March 25 and 26 include:

Lynda Deloney, Melissa Dickerman, Richard Kroeper and Jimmy Yobbi, eighth grade; Bobby Bosslett, Andy Ronk, Laura Weissenborn, Sarah Halbrook and Amy Pennell, seventh grade; and Lisa Hayes, Elizabeth Mushill, Meghan Mellicie and Nathan Smith, sixth grade. Seventh and eighth grade students also participated in math counts competition at SIUE during February.

During March, students participated in the Math-A-Thon in which students receive pledges to complete math work and proceeds go to the St. Jude's Cancer Research for Kids. With the upcoming first communion on Sunday, May 1, first penance was held March 8. The annual spring musical will be held in the school's gymnasium on Sunday, May 22.

With the end of the basketball season approaching, the athletic committee and school basketball teams have been kept busy competing in several tournaments hosted by the school. Pete Mushill reported on the huge success of the Lenten fish fries due in large part to the help of the school and parish members. The fish fries will continue every Friday during Lent at the Holy Family Community Center from 4 to 7 p.m. The public is invited.

Following the winning of the 50/50 drawing by Missy Hickam and attendance prize by Judine Lux, the evening's guest speaker, Judith Brown, gave a presentation on the observance of Black History Month. Brown presented an informative biography of 15 important black history makers and their contributions to society.

New members — The Granite City Kiwanis Club welcomed two new individuals into membership recently. Rita Johnson, right, of Coordinated Youth and Human Services, and Rhonda Hatfield, left, of Irwin Chapel, are shown with Sonny Ambuehl of DeWitt Decorating, center, who is the current president of the club.

The Kiwanis Club meets every Tuesday at 7:30 a.m. at Shoney's Restaurant.

Food & Nutrition

Wise Ways

Mystifying horseradish is an international favorite for getting to the root of seasoning.

INSIDE

Living Lean for Adults

Like a chameleon, tofu takes on its partner flavors from stir-fry to cheesecake.

Blue Ribbon Cook

Strawberries moisten a cake with fresh-as-the-season flavor that is easy to savor.

Private Label Test Run

If it was good enough for Elvis, it's good enough for most of America. Lots of people love peanut butter. Check out what Journal tasters thought of Best Choice peanut butter from Price Chopper.

Micro Raves

Many Mexican recipes microwave well, whether they are prepared for Cinco de May or any time of the year.

Lively Taste

A Mother's Day gift that produces long-term, delicious, aromatic results is a pot of fresh herbs. Herbs regenerate well when clipped regularly from the top, which makes them perfect for a summer window sill or doorway. Keep them moist for best results.

Health & Fitness

Fresh Picks

If the budget allows an occasional splurge to delight dulled cool-weather taste buds, take home a few raspberries or other produce specialties. Get the most from their fresh flavor by using in salad with a complementary vinegar with the same flavor or one with an herb — like thyme or basil — that will perk up the palate.

Medicine Chest

A bottle of ipecac syrup can be valuable in cases of poisoning when vomiting must be induced. If poisoning is indicated, immediately call the local Poison Control Center number — 772-5200 locally or toll-free (800) 366-8888 outside the St. Louis area — and only use ipecac under its direction.

Big Fat Tip

Each complete chicken wing served Buffalo-style contains about 7 grams fat and 103 calories. Almost one-third of the fat is saturated. Twelve pieces — 6 complete wings — adds up to 42 grams fat. Each tablespoon of blue cheese dressing served with it adds another 8 grams fat and 77 calories.

Future Shop

Yogurt is one area where low-fat and nonfat are the norm. With the interest in smarter eating, look for yogurt-based dips to offer familiar flavors to eaters of "light" foods who want to dip their veggies in a hurry.

MOM'S FAN CLUB

By Janice Denham
Staff writer

Mother's Day sentiments span generations. There are real mothers and those adopted along the way. They come in all sizes, all shapes, all ages with all colors of hair. Sometimes dads even make the best moms.

Memories of a first Mother's Day — of the occasion spent between homes, of graduations, birthdays and broken bones from bicycle mishaps that fall on those days — produce sign-posts that mark some as truly cherished.

Kids' Cuisine

Put on a happy face.

On Mother's Day even a small child can put together a smile on a toaster waffle or microwaved pancake for breakfast in bed. If Mom throws calories to the wind on her special day, build on a croissant for the smiley portion. The bigger the plane, the larger the features. Raisins, chocolate chips and colored candies yield to bigger eyes of strawberries, grapes and banana rounds.

If cake decorating fits a child better, frosting yields instant success for anchoring features, like orange cartwheel eyes and a banana-half mouth. For a floral tribute, cut a hole in center of cake so a juice glass can sit in it. Fill it with water and short-stemmed fresh flowers.

Tofu makes believers of skeptics

Some of the best desserts I ever have eaten were made with tofu. Ditto for stir-fry and dips.

Frankly, I used to be wary of tofu. Now I realize its tremendous health value, how easy it is to work with and how good it can taste.

Tofu — soybean curd — is produced in much the same way traditional cheese is made, by curdling fresh soy milk with a coagulant. Traditional curdling agents include nigari, a compound found in sea water, or calcium sulfate, a naturally-occurring mineral compound. Some processors use lemon juice or vinegar. The curds then are pressed into a solid block.

Tofu long has been standard fare for Asians. History holds that the first tofu was created by accident around 200 B.C., when a Chinese cook added nigari to cooked soybeans and ended up with soybean curd. Voila — tofu!

The health benefits of soy foods such as tofu are well documented. They contain many compounds shown to lower cholesterol levels and protect against certain cancers. Part of my love affair with tofu probably stems from just knowing how healthful it is.

Tofu is rich in protein, calcium — if processed with calcium sulfate — and other vitamins and minerals. It has a bit of fat, but it is primarily unsaturated fat. Because it is a plant food, tofu has no cholesterol.

Tofu is great for cooking because it takes on the flavor of whatever I'm preparing. Added to stir-fry, tofu cubes absorb ginger and garlic flavors. Blended with fruit, honey or cocoa, tofu makes a sweet-tasting pie filling. Whipped with cucumber, dill and pepper, it doubles for rich-tasting sour cream dip.

Look for tofu in the produce or dairy section of a grocery store. Multiple varieties are available in Oriental stores, too. It may be found in water-filled tubs, vacuum packs or aseptic brick packages. Unless aseptically packaged, tofu should be kept refrigerated. Change the water daily and use within five days of purchase. It can be frozen up to five months.

There are three types of tofu. Each has a unique culinary use:

- Firm tofu is solid. It holds up well in stir-fry dishes, soups or on the grill. It is higher in protein, fat and calcium than other tofus.

- Soft tofu is great for blending, as in dips.

- Silken tofu has a creamy texture that works well in pureed or blended dishes.

This delicious fruit dessert has winning flavor and is a snap to whip up.

BLACKBERRY TOFU DELIGHT

in preheated oven 50 to 55 minutes until wooden pick inserted in center of loaf comes out clean.

Cool 10 minutes in pan. Remove to wire rack. Cool completely.

Mix cracker crumbs and margarine. Press into 9-by-13-inch pan.

Blend cream cheese and tofu in blender until smooth. Fold in whipped topping.

Cook berries, cornstarch and sugar until thick. Cool.

Fold berries into cream cheese mixture. Pour over crumbs. Refrigerate until set.

Peanut butter is a pantry specialty good for breakfast or lunch, snacks or sweets.

Private Label Test Run

Peanut butter easy for spreading around

Best Choice peanut butter from Price Chopper got a smooth endorsement — even from chunky peanut butter lovers — by this week's Journal Private Label Test Run panel.

They tried both smooth and chunky varieties on crackers and/or fresh apple.

"It ranked favorably with those who responded to questions about its flavor being 'fresh,'" several commented that it has a mild flavor, rather than saltier brands. One thought the flavor was "excellent."

One tester — a devotee of a single national brand who uses peanut butter for lunch, sandwiches and cookies, agreed the Best Choice product had "fairly good crunch (in the crunch, the) smooth is smooth." She and several others commented that it spreads easily.

Most testers buy national brands based on price and use of a coupon, but they thought $1.81 for an 18-ounce jar at least a fair, or even economical, price.

The less oily nature of Best Choice was a starred asset for one tester who had been displeased when she tried peanut butter under a different private label.

Mexican food shouts 'Ole' faster from microwave

Viva Mexico! For Mexicans, the Fifth of May — Cinco de Mayo — is a day that marks a rallying point on the way toward their independence.

North of the Rio Grande, people know Christopher Columbus came across the Western Hemisphere in 1492. Not long after that, in 1517 Francisco Fernandez landed on the Yucatan Peninsula of Mexico and two years later Hernando Cortez established a settlement at Vera Cruz. It was more than a century later before Pilgrims settled at Plymouth Rock.

When Cortez came to Mexico, he found highly organized Indian civilizations, as well as many foods he never had seen before.

Mexico has given the world many popular foods. We may associate Ireland with potatoes, but they actually came from Mexico. Tomatoes followed the same route, although many find them synonymous with Italian food. Contrary to their name, Jerusalem artichokes originated much closer to home than the Mediterranean.

Squash and pumpkin, some chili peppers, pumpkin and sweet potatoes are among the many foods that come from this part of America. Mexico has made tremendous contributions to the tables of the world.

Many Mexican recipes are outstanding when prepared in a microwave oven. It saves much of their fresh flavor because it cooks in less time and keeps foods from becoming soggy. Many people hardly know how to bake a potato any more without using a microwave, because of the time advantage — four minutes versus one hour.

Casserole Mexicali is a handy combination of Mexican flavors that is easy to Americanize for easy — extra-easy in a microwave — acceptance.

CASSEROLE MEXICALI

- 1 lb. ground beef
- ½ cup chopped green bell pepper
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 1 pkg. (1½ oz.) taco seasoning mix
- 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
- 1 can (8 oz.) tomato paste
- ½ cup sliced black olives
- ¼ cup chili
- ¼ tsp. chili powder

In 2-quart microwave-safe casserole, microwave crumbled ground beef, green pepper and onion 3 to 5 minutes on high power. Stir. Drain grease.

Stir in taco seasoning, tomato sauce, tomato paste, olives, water and chili powder. Microwave on medium (50 percent) power 10 to 15 minutes until thickened.

- 4 or 5 flour tortillas
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 2 eggs
- ¼ tsp. pepper
- 2 cups broken corn chips
- 2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Monterey Jack cheese sour cream, eggs and pepper.

In bottom of 12-by-8-inch dish, place half tortillas, cutting in half as needed to fit.

Top with half the meat mixture, then half the sour cream mixture. Repeat layers. Sprinkle with chips. Top with cheese.

Microwave on medium power 10 to 15 minutes until cheese melts. Let stand 5 minutes.

Serve in squares like lasagna.

Mom's Fan Club

Dorothy Hatfield of Maryland Heights wrote to tell Table Talk about Milk Toast, her mother's tonic for her sick children.

"First you toast the bread, but it in a cereal bowl, butter it, sprinkle sugar and cinnamon on top, then heat some milk and pour over top," she said.

It was soothing when it went down sore throats — soothing enough that she made some as she wrote her letter. She said, "It tasted the same as when I was small."

Georganna Krumlinde of Wentzville said her 81-year-old mother, Louise Linder, still makes angel food cake in Sigourney, Iowa. On the first Sunday of each August, she was expected to bring the cake, deviled eggs and freshly picked blackberries to the Morrow family reunion. It was the cake-of-choice for birthdays, too.

Blackberries were part of the family farm heritage. Krumlinde and six siblings helped pick blackberries to sell. Profits helped cover taxes on the farm where her mother raised 200 to 600 chickens every year.

Arleen Hawkins of south St. Louis says her mother's example as a good cook started her on her delicious way, which included a stint in a school cook during the Depression.

She offers the recipe for a specialty — Four-Day Cake.

Potato salad

Many roads to a picnic are paved with potato salad.

There are lots of new and old family favorites out there. Whether yours comes from tiny new potatoes or huge Idaho varieties, whether it is sinful, slushy or sneaky — it could be made by adding a few extras to store-bought, you know! Aunt Martha's, tell us about that, too. Send your story and/or recipe to: Table Talk, Suburban Journals, 1714 Deer Tracks Trail, St. Louis, Mo. 63131.

Horseradish takes flavor from roots of freshness

One condiment I have come to appreciate as an adult is the distinctive and pungent flavor of fresh horseradish.

As a kid I wouldn't touch the stuff. But with wisdom and the fact that I live near Collinsville, where 60 percent of the world's supply of horseradish is grown, it is only natural that this perennial herb finds its way into many of my recipes. On Saturday the International Horseradish Festival will be held in Collinsville.

Horseradish has nothing to do with horses, nor is it a radish.

It is a member of the mustard family, like cauliflower and Brussels sprouts. The word "horse" probably refers to its large size and "radish" comes from the Latin word radix which means root.

This pungent root has delighted and even mystified men through history. Medieval people, who regarded horseradish as an aphrodisiac, claimed it could cure everything from scurvy to tuberculosis. In Biblical times it was known as one of the five bitter herbs of the Passover and still helps observe that event each year.

Horseradish gets sharp flavor and penetrating smell from highly volatile oils released when the root is ground. The fresher the horseradish, the hotter its flavor.

Plain or cream-style prepared horseradish is its most common form in the grocery store. Horseradish products stored under refrigeration tend to be a higher quality than ones placed on regular shelves.

High-quality commercially prepared horseradish has creamy white color and a penetrating aroma. As processed horseradish ages, it darkens and loses pungency. To keep prepared horseradish at its flavorful best, store it in a tightly covered jar in the refrigerator or freezer. It keeps its best quality 4 to 6 weeks in a refrigerator and at least 6 months in a freezer.

Commonly horseradish is served as a condiment to meat dishes, especially roast beef, but it also adds zip to potato salad and coleslaw, any egg dish and is particularly good in the following salad recipe.

MOLDED BEET GELATIN SALAD

- 1 cup diced canned beets
- 3/4 cup diced celery
- 1 pkg. (4 servings) lemon gelatin
- 1 cup boiling water
- 3 tsp. vinegar
- 1 tbsp. grated onion
- 1 tbsp. prepared horseradish

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add beet juice, vinegar, onion and horseradish. Chill until almost set.

Fold in beets and celery. Pour mixture into 9-by-13 pan or mold coated with nonstick cooking spray. Chill until firm.

Unmold on bed of lettuce, if desired. Yields eight (1/2-cup) servings; 56 calories, no fat, 1 g protein and 13 g carbohydrate each.

GARDEN PASTA

- 1 lb. uncooked spaghetti, linguine or fettuccine
- 4 medium tomatoes, seeded, chopped (4 cups)
- 1 can (15 oz.) Italian-style tomato sauce
- 1 tsp. dried or 2 tsp. chopped fresh basil
- 1/2 tsp. freshly ground black pepper
- 1 tbsp. oil
- 1 lb. fresh asparagus, cut in 1 inch pieces

- 1 zucchini or yellow squash, halved, thinly sliced
- 1 red bell pepper, cut in 1/2 inch chunks
- Freshly grated parmesan cheese

Prepare pasta according to package directions. Drain. In large saucepan, combine tomato, tomato sauce, basil and black pepper. Mix well. Bring to boil. Reduce heat. Simmer, covered, 20 minutes. Uncover. Cook, stirring occasionally, 15 to 20 minutes until slightly thickened. In large skillet, heat oil over medium-high heat. Stir-fry asparagus, zucchini and bell pepper until barely tender.

Combine pasta with vegetables. Toss well. Spoon tomato sauce on top. Sprinkle with parmesan cheese.

Makes 6 servings; 234 calories, 7 g protein, 37 g carbohydrate, 8 g fat, no cholesterol and 456 mg sodium each. Note: Use two packages (10 ounces each) frozen asparagus, cut, thawed, drained, instead of fresh asparagus.

Strawberries prove cake a fresh winner

Anne Glascock, O'Fallon, Ill., is the winner of this week's recipe contest for Berry Good Cake. For it she wins a prize of dinner certificates at the Pasta House Company.

She sides with most people that strawberry season is much too short, so this time of year she puts berries on the table in many forms. She calls this cake "super-easy, eye-pleasing and luscious." It is delicious alone or can be served warm with ice cream for a special occasion. The more berries used and the riper they are, the moister the cake is.

Recipes in the Summer Chicken Recipe Contest will be accepted through May 31.

Once a cook sets sight on summer, so will chicken be served differently. Instead of baked, chicken may be marinated in a special mixture before barbecuing, used in salad or become a favorite sandwich for eating on the patio. Because June has five Wednesdays, a single recipe stands an extra chance of winning, so send in a recipe early for longest consideration.

Type or print a recipe legibly on one side of the paper. Include name, address and telephone number on the entry. Name the Journal you receive. Be sure to double-check the recipe as it is written for both amounts and directions, including any variations that make this dish special.

If there is a history to the recipe, it will be considered part of the entry. Along with taste and eye appeal, it is the basis for selecting winners. Originality will be considered, although the recipe need not be original. If possible, name the source of the recipe.

Winners are notified by mail. Duplicate entries will be considered on the basis of earlier entry or best compliance with the rules. Contest winners may enter again six months after their prize-winning publication date.

Today's Food

Derby Day snacks make strong run for Louisville treat

The first Saturday in May marks the 120th "run for the roses" at Churchill Downs. Foods served that day are associated almost as closely with Derby Day as the wreath of roses placed around the winning horse's neck which gives the race its nickname.

Traditional fare might include country-style ham, a salty cured ham served very thinly sliced — on biscuits, of course.

Benedictine Spread is another Louisville Derby Day favorite, served either as a dip or sandwich spread. To make it, combine chopped cucumbers and cream cheese, season with onion and cayenne pepper, then add the mixture green with a few drops of food coloring.

HORSESHOE CHEESE APPETIZERS

1½ cups flour
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. dry mustard
¼ tsp. cayenne pepper
½ cup (1 stick) butter, softened
1 pkg. (3 oz.) cream cheese, softened
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded sharp cheddar cheese
Extra shredded sharp cheddar cheese, if desired

Combine flour, salt, dry mustard and cayenne.

In food processor or mixer bowl, process or beat butter and cream cheese until light and fluffy. Add 1 cup shredded cheese. Mix well. Gradually add flour mixture, processing or beating until just blended.

Divide dough into two balls. Wrap in plastic wrap. Refrigerate at least 1 hour or up to 2 days.

If dough is very firm, let stand at room temperature until just soft enough to roll easily.

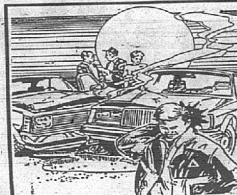

Preheat oven to 375°.

On lightly floured surface, roll each ball into rectangle about ¼-inch thick. If desired, sprinkle extra cheese on dough and press in gently. Cut dough in strips about ½ inch wide and 7 inches long. Holding each strip between thumbs and forefingers, twist strips several times. Bend into horseshoe shape. Place on unbuttered baking sheets, pressing down ends. Bake in preheated oven 10 to 12 minutes.

FEELING FIT

By Mark Lymberopoulos

High-pressure bicycle tires don't make it any easier to pedal. A Texas sports physiologist tested oxygen use of riders on four different tire inflations over a measured distance. Result: there's no advantage to the more-expensive, less-stable, high-pressure tires.

Low-fat milk is 2 percent fat by weight - but it's really 37 percent fat by calories. Opt for skim milk if you can, with 5 percent of its calories from fat.

A ballet dancer's first position - heels together, toes turned out - works the abdominal and gluteal muscles. Stand tall and rest one hand on a chair (or barre) for balance.

The "training table" for football players isn't what it used to be. The Dallas Cowboys, for instance, get six daily servings of fruits and vegetables, plus low-fat, high-choice like bread and spaghetti.

Ultramarathon runs, up to 100 miles, appeal to middle-aged runners - the median age is often 50 - perhaps because speed isn't really an issue. The aim in one race is to finish 100 miles before a 30-hour cutoff.

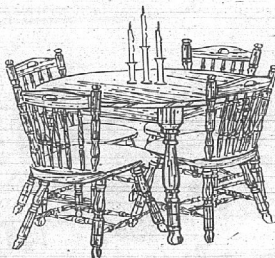

At any age, there's a fitness workout that's right for you at:

ENTERTAINMENT

Horoscope

Wednesday, May 4
The moon teeters on the edge of Aquarius and Pisces, so recent socializing brings you new intuition in matters of love and money. Venus, in the early reaches of Gemini, makes romance light-hearted — talk of commitment is scarce, but actions speak louder than words. Money is carefully, lucratively spent. Those who provide services or counsel may overstep their boundaries. Set limits, and stick to them.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Your laughter is music friends rely on you to set the mood. Worthwhile causes need organization — be choosy about time management. Your invitations are accepted. Detailed records are savors.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Financial exchanges are lucky. Compromise is difficult to agree upon but easy to carry out. Strategic moves make romance more probable — a little showing off — a little help.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21): A coveted position is your inheritance. Positive affirmations make a romantic decision easier — concentrate on making a formula out of past wins. Your family stands firm on principles.

CANCER (June 22-July 22): Procrastination ends. An innovative friend wants your help on a project — money may be tight, but not in the early stages. Spend your creative energy on teaching children. Thank-you notes are overdue.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Friends are walking advertisements for your expert services — expect more work than you can handle. Search for perfect deals on furniture and household items. Family alliances help in a pinch.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Rest prevents burnout — your boss supports your pacing. A romantic interlude is with an unlikely partner. A small amount of money is needed to complete a project — expect an early completion date.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Romantic insights are saved for later — your sense of timing is correct. Groups of friends hail you for your team spirit. Write down your dreams — career questions are answered in them. Your parents have news.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Co-workers support your independent quest. Keep in close contact with friends of the opposite sex — amateur cupids make love connections. Your bank records need better organization.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): The extra money you spent for quality workmanship tells the boss you have good sense. Friends will cancel a party unless you pledge attendance. Make romantic plans — you need something to look forward to.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Slick moves you once thought were foolish help to close a deal. Spend money on your image to improve your self-esteem. Lovers exchange simple but memorable vows. Retrace your steps — a mystery is solved.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): A love triangle seems confusing now, but quickly, you see anticipated results. A satisfying end to negotiations comes — more was at stake than you believed. New friends are found when you cut loose.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Relevant information that was once withheld is now revealed and a romantic interest takes on new face. Travel for education brings discounts and luck. Friends go far out of their way for you.
